

Drew Collins

I'm a self-taught web developer and designer with a passion for user experience design.

drewcoll.com | drewcoll@gmail.com | (206)552-8863

Skills

Interaction Design

User research, personas, wireframing, prototyping, user testing

Visual Design

Graphics, video editing, mapping, data visualization

Software

Sketch, Photoshop, Adobe Creative Suite, InVision, Axure, UXPin, Marketo

Web Development

HTML, CSS, SASS, Javascript, PHP, Git, responsive design, web accessibility, analytics

Experience

UW College of the Environment

Web Developer and UX Lead

2015 – Present

Web and Graphics Specialist

2013 – 2015

Built a responsive WordPress multi-site network with dozens of department websites. Designed multiple sites and tools informed by conducting surveys, focus groups, prototyping and user testing. Found consensus between students, faculty, and staff. Facilitated content strategy, information architecture, project management and design discussions for new and redesigned sites.

Education

University of Washington

2008 - 2012

B.A. in Community, Environment, and Planning

B.A. in Environmental Studies

Minored in Urban Design and Planning, and Landscape Studies. Member of Washington Yacht Club, Climbing Club, CEP Community Engagement Committee, and CEP Executive Committee.

Activities and Interests

- An Event Apart Conference 2014 & 2016
- Seattle Interactive Conference 2016 & 2017
- CASE Gold Award 2015 – UW College of the Environment Faculty Profiles
- School of Visual Concepts UX Fundamentals